

10 Flirty Responses to His Short, Boring Text Messages to Turn Him on Now

So how do you respond to a guy-you-like's short and dry text messages he sends you out of nowhere?

You have two choices:

1. The timid, boring text approach OR...
- 2. The turn-up-the-heat, bold text approach.

The responses below follow the second approach and they will test both how respectful he is and how much he likes you.

If you want to take control of the conversation and make things interesting then this list will help you achieve that.

Playful, cute, sweet, charming and flirtatious text responses will instantly make him hot and bothered.

He won't know what hit him and won't stop thinking about you after.

Ask him questions, ask him to guess what you are doing or thinking, lead the conversation and make it fun. Prevent him from sending boring texts.

Either copy-and-paste them or read the reasoning behind the messages to create your own with your own style.

1. "Hello."

Immediately take control of the conversation by asking playful questions. Keep him guessing and chasing you.

Your response: "Three guesses what I'm thinking about right now."

Let him take three guesses and tell him he's wrong every time.

Then give him clues.

"I'm thinking about some cute guy. Guess who. He's got (describe one thing about him)."

This teasing will turn him on and make him chase you.

2. "How are you?"

Many of his texts will be a form of the same message in an attempt to start a conversation with you and to get your attention. So your approach will also be similar.

Turn things from boring to playful by asking him to guess what you're doing or thinking, tell him you have a problem (which he'll want to help solve) or ask questions to turn him on and chase you.

Your response: "I'm good, but I'm bored. Wanna play a game?"

He of course will say yes or ask what kind of game it is.

Any guessing or wishing game will get his blood pumping.

"If we could go anywhere together right now where would you take me?"

Or "Three guesses what my three favorite places to eat are."

This gives him a chance to know you better and ideas where to take you for dates.

Get creative with any of these games. You can even turn it around on him too.

"I get three guesses of what your favorite drink is, but give me one clue."

3. "What's up?"

Again, the same approach will work here. I'll give you a starter question, you finish the rest.

Any of the previous response patterns will work here too.

Your response: "Good and you? But I'll bet you'll never guess what I'm doing right now."

4. What ya doin?

This is easy to turn into a playful game since he started with a question. Tease and play with him a bit.

Your response: "Guess (what I'm doing)." Then follow the pattern in the other responses above on how to keep the ball rolling.

Here's another example.

Give him at least two tries and say "Nope" each time.

Follow up with a cute response like, "Would you believe I'm thinking of you?" or turn it super flirty with a scenario that would make his imagination go wild and turn him on. Keep him wondering and guessing without getting straight to the point.

"Well, I've got a problem." After he asks what it is then you drop in the made up scenario: "I just got out of the shower and I don't know what to wear."

5. "You work today?"

It doesn't even matter if you do. Pretend you don't. Find out if he wants to see you.

Your response: "Work? Ew! I just want to play today. Know anyone who wants to play and have fun today?"

Of course, he will want to.

6. "When's your next day off?"

Since he wants to see how interested you are to go out give him what he wants, but turn up the flirt dial a few notches.

Your responses:

"Day? Huh!? When's your next night off? ;)"

"Too far from now. How about at night? You afraid of the dark? lol :)"

7. "Let's go out this weekend."

Again, flirt from the start. He'll like it. And it will make him more comfortable when you do go out knowing that you like him.

Your response: "Aw sweetie, you gonna rescue this poor, trapped princess from the tower and take her out on the town? ;)"

And don't forget to trickle in cute pet names like "sweetie, honey, handsome, etc". Most guys love them.

8. "I've been thinking about you."

He came with the flirt; you raise the flirt bar.

Your response: "Ohhh, naughty or nice thoughts, or nice and naughty? ;)"

9. When can I take you out?

Despite his obvious interest here, you still want to flirt and take control. The more playful you are the more irresistible you become to him and he'll keep chasing. This is vital in staying on his mind and keeping him interested in you.

Be the one chased not the one who chases.

Your response: "Well that all depends Mr. ;) Is this a business meeting or pleasure meeting ;)?"

10. You're pretty.

Make him chase and earn your affection. Play tough.

Your response: "Awe, TY, that's sweet of you, but I hope you like me for more than just my looks." ;)

Expect him to shower you with what he likes about you as a person.